

The Coffee Break Page

Our odds-on winner

Scoop £100 in a great new game

HERE'S a brand-new game for all the family called Odd One Out — and your chance to win one of five prizes of £100.

All you have to do is study the pictures on the right, identify the characters, actors or actresses, and find the Odd One Out.

For example, if we published pictures of Bill Owen, Peter Sallis, Brian Wilde and Bill Oddie, then the odd one out would be Bill Oddie as the other three are the stars of Last Of The Summer Wine. Simple, isn't it?

Today we are asking you to identify the four actresses pictured, before deciding who is the Odd One Out. Perhaps John Steed could lead you to the solution.

When you know the names ring the telephone number below. You will be given three options for each picture and asked to leave your answers, and then say which of the four you think is the Odd One Out.

The winners will be the first five correct entries drawn at random after the closing date.

So ring

0891 991 110

now and you could soon be £100 richer. Don't miss tomorrow's Daily Mail and a chance to win by playing Don't Quote Me, another of our great, new games.

The solution to today's contest and the winners will be published next week.

Standard Daily Mail rules apply. The editor's decision is final. Lines close at 11.59pm tomorrow.

Calls are charged at 36p per minute cheap rate and 48p a minute at all other times.

